This company is formed for the purpose of working the Rosewood Copper Mins. The property consists of 440 acros of mineral land, scoured under the Quoensland Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1863, and is situate at Rosewood, about fifty miles from Rockhampton, twenty-five miles of which by the present route are traversed by the Westwood Kailway.

Hailway.

The mine was discovered in May last, and the ore appeared so rich that the proprietors erected a small furnace. Eleven tons of pimple copper, of 95 per cent, were smalled and sent down to Sydney, and have since been shipped to London. A few of the cakes only have been determed as samples, and may be seen at the office of the determed as samples, and may be seen at the office of the chapter. Paintres, Esq., the Government Geologist of North Queensland, was called in at an early stage to inspect the mine, especially with a viw to ascertain whether the copper was contained in a true lode, or whether the indications were at all to be distrasted. In his report to the proprietors, he says:—"The appearance of calc-spr associated as it is with veins and nexts of hard rich copper ore which increase in quantity in depth, together with the well defined wall in the south shaft, indicates a stronger process of minerallestion, and have more the appearance of a true lode than I have yet seen here, and separate it in a marked manner from these surface deposits of mineral in the cracks and cavities of civan dykes so common and so delusive in this district."

manner from those surface deposits of mineral in the cracks and cavities of clean wikes so common and so deliative in this district.

In consequence of this report the proprietors further fested the mine in accordance with Mr. Daintree's suggestions, with results which have quite justified that gentleman a snifeipations.

After two months' additional sinking and driving when the main shaft had reached a depth of over 120 feet, the directors engaged Captain A. S. R. Ostorno to visit the mine, who, on a thorough inspection, extending over two days, farnished his report dated 3rd December instant, from which the following is an extract:

With regard to the general prospects for your guidance, I feel warranted in stating that, as soon as shafts can be carried down, as suggested, another 50 feet, and the lode continues so productive as at present (which I have every reason to expect) and drives opened out 30 feet earl. way north and south, which I hope to complete in from 3 to 4 months, I shall then be in a position to raise 50 tons of dressed ore weekly, and by containing similar operations, shall gradually increase the quantity raised, until in twelve months from now will bring it up to fully 200 tons per week. Estimating the ore at the low rate of 18 per cent., it would give 35 tuns of fine copper, valued in Sgdrey at £70 per ton.

coulty visited the mine, express their complete satisfaction therewith.

Assays have been made at the Mint of Ores from the Mine, which have yielded from 25 to 54 per cent.

The expenses of exploring and econing out the Mine from the time the trustees took it over until present date amount to £2100, and the operations recommended by Captain Observe, as per above extract from his report, and subhorised to be carried out by him in the course of the next three or four months, will cost some £580 more, say £3000 in all, which will be a first charge on the subscribed capitia. Against this, one furnace is already constructed and another partly finished; 7000 first-bricks are in store at Bockhampton, and 100,000 common bricks-in course of delivery. A large quantity of firewood has been cut mad stacked, and upwards of 60 tons of dressed Ore, averaging at least 29 per cent, are at grass. Good fire-clay has been found in the neighbourhood. Limestone is abundant and easily accessible.

at least 20 per cent, are at grass. Good fire-clay has been found in the neighbourhood. Limestone is abundant and casily accessible.

The capital of the company is fixed at £00,000 in 60,000 abares of £1 each. 40,000 of these shares are reserved to the proprietors; but by the dead of actitement the directors have power not to transfer them until 12 montas after the formation of the company, or until a dividend at the rate of 20 per cent. per annum has been declared.

The public are now invited to subscribe for 20,000 shares, which will have a preferential right to dividend on the annum, payable out of profits, until the subscribors have received back in dividends the rate of ten per cent. per annum, payable out of profits, until the subscribors have received back in dividends the amount of their paid-up capital, after which the preference will coase.

It is not anticipated that, under any circumstances, it will be requisite to call up more than half of the subscribed capital, and much less will be medeed for inmediate operations, and in the event of the company not being formed the depend on these shares will be restured in ful.

The Company will be registered under the Mining Partnership Act, by which the liability of shareholders is limited to the amount mulacribed for. Applications for shares in the unrected form, accompanied by a deposit of 2s. 6d. per share, will be received up to 10th January acut, by Musers. Lemon and Cape, or Josiah Mulleas, Esq. Samples of the ore and of the pinple copper, as well as Capitain Osborne's report, and the Deed of Settlement, may be seen at the Company's temporary Office, 302, George-street.

J. J. Wright and Co., 69, New Pitt-street, Sydney.
This company is formed to work one of the largest and most valuable pieces of land at the Thames Gold-fields, Anckland, New Zealand. The Directors being much importuned of late by their Sydney friends for investments on the field, now offer to their friends and the public generally a portion of the abwa shares, and, as only a limited number can be disposed of in Sydney, would advise those wishing to invest in this Company, to make application for shares without delay.
The Sydney Agent (W. Wright, Esq.) has full particulars, juans, rules, engineer's report, topy of New Zealand Mining Act, as also latest information as to the working of surrounding claims, all of which can be seen by intending investors at the temporary office of the Company, The property of the Company, as will be seen from sunsized plan, consists of two leased blocks of surffecens ground, containing about thirty-two acres, situated on the Karska Hill, between the Hape and Karaka Ceeks. into Stining Act, as also latest information as to the working of surrounding claims, all of which can be seen by introfling investors at the temporary office of the Company.

The property of the Company, as will be seen from smexed plan, consists of two leased blocks of surferous ground, containing about thirty-two acres, situated on the Karaka Hill, between the Hape and Karaka Creeks, Thames Gold-fields, New Zosland.

The Karaka Hill has, beyond all doubt, setablished its reputation as second to none on the Thames Gold-fields; and the Company have been fortunate enough to secure a piece of ground strotching right across the range, surrounded by the "Rejected," "Hokkinga," "Lord Relson," "Pride of Karaks," Captain Cock," "Wandering Star," "Pritty Nelly," "Elack Eagle," "Golden Ambor," and maty other claims, all of which have been at work for a cohalderable time, steadily yielding large returns.

Four large well defined Autiferous Reefs, varying in size firm 2 to 6 feet, are ascertained to trun rich't through the Company's ground; the one most work probability of the country, and surface indications, it is the general opinion that a number of the other Auriferous Reefs are running up the Karaka Hill, parallel with each other.

The position of the ground offers peculiar advantages for wereing the same, upon a plan not hitherto attempted on this good-field, namely, by driving a main tunnal right through the hill, thus cutting all reefs at a level of 100 to 500 feet below the summit of the range; and as past experience on this field proves that the reefs increase in size sid richness as they are followed down, the advantages for wereing the same, upon a plan not hitherto attempted on this good-field, namely, by driving a main tunnal right through the hill, thus cutting all reefs at a level of 100 to 500 feet below the summit of the range; and as past experience on this field proves that the reefs increase in size sid richness as they are followed down, the advantages thus offered cannot be easily over-estimated; i

A prime sample in small packages, for SALE by BRILBY and SCOTT. THE PERFECTION OF PREPARED COCOA.

The Cocca (or Cacao) of Maravilla is the true Thesbroma of Linneuz. Cocca is indigenous to South America, of which Maravilla is a favoured portion. Taylor, Brothers, having secured the exclaimive supply of this universal cocca, have, by the sakiful application of their soluble principle and elaborate machinery, produced what is so undeniably the perfection of prepared cocca, that it has not only secured the preference of homeospaths and coccadrinkers generally, but many, who had hitherto net found any preparation to suit them, have, after one trail, adopted the Maravilla Cocca as their constant beverage for breaklast, luncheon, &c.

A SUCCESS UNPRECEDENTEB."
See folk-wing Extract from the Globe of May 14, 1868.

"Various importers and manufactures have attempted to attain a reputation for their prepared Cocoas, but we doubt whether any thorough success had been achieved until Mesers. Taylor, Brothers discovered the extraordinary qualities of 'Maravilla' Cocoa. Adapting their perfect system of preparation to this finest of all species of the Theobroma, they have produced an article which unpersade every other cocoa in the market. Entire schulilly, a delicate scome, and a rare concentration of the purset elements of autrition, distinguish the Maravilla Cocoa above all others. For Homeopaths and invalids we could not recommend a more agreeable or valuable boverage."

That highly valuable Pastoral Property, near Rockhampton, known as Balaclava or Balaagowan, with all the stock thereon, as above. all the stock thereon, as above.

In announcing the offer of the sale of this Squattage, it is requisite to state that it has always borns a deservedly high character, and to those well sequalited with its value it is not necessary to describe at any length its peculiar advantages, as in particular the appolitities as a fattening run are in general reputs, and could not possibly be overestimated. A good demand always exists in Rockkampton for fat cattle, and its nearness (being only 21 miles distant) to the markst alfords a ready means for their disposal at any time. The present condition of the stock would, upon inspection, speak more forcibly than any praiseworthy terms of this advertisement, and it is as well to mention that the carrying capabilities are beyond the present number of cattle at present depasturing.

The limits of this notice preclude any adequate representation; therefore, the inspection of intending investors is invited.

For SALE, at Greystans, 15 miles from Parramatta, 15 head of well-head COWS, mostly with calves at foot by the celebrated bell "Imperial Parple;" also, six young BULLS, shout twelve mostle old.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 1, 1870.

As it is the custom of the idlers of this city to chalk on every corner and door the number of the year, we suppose that we must follow their example and write down "1870." The 19th century has thus achieved the ordinary term of human life, for if by reason of atrength of human life, for if by reason of strength man endures for fourscore years, yet, says the Divine oracle, "his strength is labour and sorrow." What a century it has been hitherto! Its years chronicle events of surpassing moment. Ancient Empires have left behind them nothing but ruins. Even the Roman Empire survives in fragments scattered over Europe, or in the highways which show how the engineering of the Roman people ensured their government and prolonged their dominion. But the last 70 years has wrought imperishable changes in the condition, thoughts, and moral achievements condition, thoughts, and moral achievements of men. Throses have indeed crumbled, and ephemeral Governments have appeared and vanished. England alone is an unchanged dynasty with a Sovereign, if not the ido sway over an immense portion of the globe.

When the century opened the aristocracy of England pressed with terrible weight upon the industry and aspirations of the people. They are now reconciled with freedom.

We have achieved a perfect religious

When the century spensed the shadowers of the control of the contr We have achieved a perfect religious liberty. Many living men were once disqualited for the meanest office under the Crown. We have accomplished a thorough liberation of trade from the trammels which has recently been celebrated by uniting the waters of the Mediferranean with those of the ked Sea, and thus opening a new way to commerce and compressed thousands of miles. There are asserted discoveries in reference to the origin, nature, and destiny of man, ex-citing the deepest interest, which seem to shoke all past ideas of what he is, whence he retensions, which seem to blight every hope be has ever cherished, and leave him a poor waif in the universe, the heart turns with he has ever cherished, and leave him a poor waif in the universe, the heart turns with instinctive chill. Looking upwards, however, to the grand discoveries of the astronomer, one is struck with wonder at the mighty power of God. Many a problem of former ages is now solved by the vast instruments of astronomy that "sweep across the heavens." The extent of these discoveries when Dr. Quincy wrote, ere Lord Ross's telescope had come into operation, may be imagined from his illustration. Take, he said, a map and fix upon it the signs of the starry world. It will require 150 inches to express all the astronomer knows of the heavenly bodies. This was the limit of the knowledge of Herschiel, and of all those great men who then watched the heavens. Now take a map of a thousand inches and place the signs of the heavens on an equal scale, and this will represent the total gained What has been since accomplished we know not, except that the spectrum analysis and other appliances of science have no only revealed the existence, but also shown the nature of stars, the kind of substances of which they are composed and has a recond

the country that he should be promoted to a post for which he is not fit, and merely long service gives him no claim. But in the absence of a mechanical arrangement for advancement by seniority there is un-doubtedly room for favouritism, and a re-sponsible Minister owes it to his conscience and his country to do his head.

sponsible Minister owes it to his conscience and his country to do his best to put the right men in the right places.

The Committee of Inquiry appointed some years ago by Mr. Cowren, reported that the salaries of officials were scarcely equal to those at that time given to corresponding positions in commercial establishments. It is not to be expected that they should be so. The certainty and steadiness of the pay, the durabe expected that they should be so. The certainty and steadiness of the pay, the durability of the office, the unoppressive nature of the work, the limited hours, and the prospect of a pension,—all make it worth while for those who like a quiet, uniform, and unexciting life, to prefer an official to a commercial situation. There may be more prizes in the ranks of commerce, but there are more risks. Most a work of the property was a connection of the property was a connection. risks, more anxiety, and generally

If, however, a pension enters into the calculations of a Government official, the arrange-ments for securing that pension should be on a satisfactory footing. It is clear that the existing Act must be altered, and the last English Act will furnish a better model than that which was followed. It is certain that the fund will not bear the gratuities that have been granted to the friends of deeased efficers. The deduction made from alaries will pay for superannuation allow-ances; but it will not pay for life-assurances ances; but it will not pay for life-assurances as well. The two things are quite distinct. According to the English Act, no pension is obtainable till after ten years of service; but after that period every year tells; and the maximum allowance, after forty years of service, is forty-sixtieths, or two-thirds of the plea of defendant was, that the claim made had been included in a psyment shready made. Vardict for the defendant.

This was an action brought by James M. Doyle against Alfird Pairfax and Thomas G. Savage, trading as A. Pairfax and Company, to recover £22 is. 7d. for work and latour done and money paid. Plaintiff had, it appeared, been a commercial traveller for that firm, and his services had recently been dispensed with. The effect of the cross-camination of the plaintiff by the solicitor of the defandants went to show that defendants conceived that they had ample reasons for being dissatisfied with the way in which Mr. Boyle had discharged the duties with which he had been neutrated, and upon the satisfactory performance of which he based his claim. For the plaintiff, the allegations made for the defence were denied. It was declared that there had been no unnecessary delay on the part of Doyle, and that he had not, as assumed, ever been so intemperate as to be unfit for his work. Verdict for the plaintiff, £12 ITs. 7d. For the plaintiff, Mr. Buller, instructed by Mr. H. Driver; for the defendants, Mr. Stephen Brown.

NORTH V. HANSON.

This was an action brought by John Britty North against Albert George Hansen for money had and received and noney paid. Plaintiff claimed £40. The one was stated by the plaintiff's course! to have arisen out of a case of sale and warranty. On the other band, this was directly denied for the defendant is burg argued (as a point of law) that, as the facts stood, the sale had been made to North. As to the main particulars of the case there was no question. Plaintiff was non-cuited. For the plaintiff, Mr. Mr. H. Stephen, instructed by Mr. Levy.

Much interest was felt in the expected and the property of the result of the election, and at miscapenal and the proceedings of the days 1 Liverpool. Much interest was felt in the expected cafficial announcement of the result of the election, and at miscapenal and the proceedings of the days 1 Liverpool. Much interest was unable to make the official declaration, owing to the fact that the Hon. J. Blaximad, deputy returning-officer for Kyde, had either emitted to send in his return of votes, or it had miscarried in transitu. Mr. M. Dougall theoretore announced that he would postpone the declaration of the poll until Monday next, in order to give an opportunity for the safair to be investigated. Nessus, Lackey, Flood, and Campbell, three of the candidates, addressed the electors, and were very well received. On his return to Parramatis Mr. M. Dougall found the missing returns awaiting him at the Post-office. It was for the Field of Mara, and gave the number of votes polled as they appeared in last Weldnesday's Hervid, leaving Messan. Lackey and Flood at the head of the poll. The official declaration will therefore take place on Monday we aphoused. CENTRAL CUMBERLAND ELECTION. .

The formula is then: Humidity = F

The formula is then of vapour at dry buth for Difference between dry and well as the formula is the formula in the formul

It was not until some few months since, when considering the matter, that I saw how to construct these curves, which I think have soc implished the desired result.

For think have soc implished the desired result.

For thinten years a regular series of observations were taken at the Bogal the review, Groenwich, with dry and wet bulls and direct deep point instruments (Daniel's) with a view to obtain the relation between them. The result is given in the former at able in the Grosnwich results, and also in Mr. Glasher's tables, of which its forms the basis. This table gives factors by which its multiply the difference between the dry and wet bulls in order to obtain the difference between the dry bull and dew point.

From this table I have computed the difference between the dry bull and dew point.

From this table I have computed the difference between the dry bull and dew point.

T. h = T.

T in tables of tension of vapour gives P then B = P.

then B-P

where

T = Tension of vapour at dry bulb
h = Humidity
T' = Tension of vapour at dew point
P = Dew point
B = Dry bulb
F = Glataber's factor at dry bulb temperature
d = Difference between dry and wet.

The arrangement of the table of curves is as follows:—61 cquidistant vartical lines were drawn to represent dry bulb temperatures from 20 to 90 on a sufficient number of these lines, and starting always from the straight line masked 100, with a scale of equal parts called Index. I masked the difference between the dry and wet bulbs for all degrees of humidity, from 40 to 99; lines bloom a sufficient number of these times that the curve.
The vertical lines may be taken to represent so many thermometers with equal susies arranged in reference to lines bloom and starting from 30 each, one degree lower than the preceding one; upon the lower parts of these scales were marked the reading of the wet bulb for all degrees of humidity from 40 to 59 under each dry bulb reading.

From this it is evident that given any dry bulb temperatures and the difference between it and the wet, it is only necreary to place the index on the dry bulb line, look down it till the difference is found, and opposite will be found a line indicating the required humidity.

Before closing these remarks there is one p into which 1 should like to draw your attention. I have drawn the curve representing 40 of humidity on an enlarged scale, bearing in mind then the expension of water below 40 to 20 take such a remarkable change in direction, and then from 26 you on again almost pseudiet oits first part. I have not been a ble to see any satisfactory explanation of this, but I should mave expected a regular curve.

Sirg.—In my letter which appeared in your issue of the 4th instead, in answer to a challenge from Mr. Parkes, to show even one insuance of anjust or partial administration of the Pablic Behole Act by the Council of Education, I think I have recreeded in establishing air bons fide cases which have occurred with myself, and I am sure many more dases of unjust and partial administration could be brought forward by others if they would only take the trouble to establishing them.

On Sunday last I was informed by two trustweethy gentlemen that there is a Public school at a place called the New Country Flats, within twelve miles of Coulburn, at which there is an average attendance of three children. The impecter, I am assured, is aware of this, as he has lately visited the school, the Council must be aware of it from the mentily and quarterly returns; and yet, in the face of all this the school is kept open, and, as a special mark of the approbation of the Council, the teacher has been promoted, and his salary increased from £99 to £72 per annum within the last few months. Mark, the State pays at the rate of £23 per annum for the admention of each child in that school!

Now bet us contrast this with the conduct of the Council thowards one of the schools under my charge. About suphteen months up I established a provisional school near Whee, in the district of Grabben Gulles, with an awarage attendance of about twenty-five children. After a long correspondence with the Council, I; succeeded in goiding a saidly of £48 per annum for the teacher. The children attending the few pure for a late of the country of

OUR CRIMINAL LAW.

To the Estator of the Harald.

Size.—In your leader of Zuda instant, you state that a small thost committee by a starving wretch is punished by imprisonment for months together; but a man may brutally assuall a woman and rest off with an almost nominal fine. This brings to my recollection the result of two trials for murder at the late Criminal Seasons in Sydney. The syldence in the first case was very clear that the offender came home in a state of intoxication, and so brutally best his wife that in a short time after she died—indeed, to use the medical gentleman's expression, she was one mass of bruises from head to foot. The whole evidence, so far as I could observe, did not disclose one mitigating circumstance. What the law regards as the extreme punishment in such an aggravated and brutal case I am not aware; but we find the offender received a sentence of three years imprisonment. The evidence against the other man showed that he made indecent evertures to his victim, which she resented; she was subsequently discovered tied up in a bag, into which she had been forced with her neek broken, and cast aside as so much rubbish. The jury here again reduced the crime to manalaughter; but I question their power in such an attractious case. The prisoner was sentenced to tractice manalaughter; but I question their power in such an attractious case. The prisoner was sentenced to tractice manalaughter; but I question their power in such an attraction case of the prisoner was sentenced to the ownership superiment.

I must say, Mr. Editor, if human life is to be held so cheap, we must not be surprised to hear of many similar casingues as above described.

The Convier of Tuesday says:—"We regret to have to announce the sudden and nonswhat violent death of one of our oldest resident cinonists. Mr. Donaid Courts, of Bullman Heure, who did yesterday at about 2 in the afternoon. On the previous evening the unfortunate gentleman was fondling and patting a fool on his premises; whon the animal suddenly awaved, and kicked him violently in a vitally dangerous part of the body. No fatal effects were apprehended for some time, but the character of the injury, combined probably with the influence of the extreme head, caused Mr. Courts to succumb, and he died yesterday sitemon, as the hour stated."

At the distribution of prizes on Friday, at a Non-vested acheol, the master, Mr. Christie, in the course of his address said that when the Homan Catholic school was opened "some of the parents of children who had been attending his school wasted upon him and expressed their right at taking their children away, but said they had been ordered by their chergy to send their children to the ad-ol-ol onceted with their Church."

Two fistal accidents from these causes have happened during the present season. Persons should itsern castion and be sure of their pround before venturing in. By help of a best pole the depth of the water could be ascertained, and the presence of logs or weeds easily detected. A new danger is now announced. Whilst Mr. Wake and Mr. Fentain were lishing in the Yeppen Yeppen Lagoon one right this work, a young crocodile snapped his jaws at the former gentleman, who had waded out some distance from the bank to ensure a longer cast into the lagoon. CAPE OF GOOD HOPS.

Frow Noted we have files to the 14th October.

The Orange Free State Journal reports, that Mr. John Tully, in a private letter dated at Vasl River, 16th September, states that he has got two more diamonds—one of them weighting? carats—and adds that Mr. Charles Braun, the beare of said letter, will tall all about them. Mr. Braun, who is libowise an earnest and enthusiactic diamonds sucker, has just returned from a visit to Hopotown, having in his travels touched at Jacobschal, Phiel, and most of the other spots where diamonds are said to have been picked up. Mr. Braun informs us, that while as Hopotown, through the Bindness of Mr. L. Hond, he saw and fanalised twenty-four diamonds in all, one of them brought in by Mr. Mons weighing 22 carats, and that in his journey he heard of almont as many more which he did not see. He further states that Mr. Parkey, a present tracking beyond the Vaal, has in his possession a very large diamond, but hes not soales to weigh the same. Mr. Joseph Hayward, residing its present on Vasl River, has a dismond of abent 3 carats, which he procured in barrer for catile for $17, and fer which he has refused $60 in cash. Mr. Hayward was just proceeding beyond the Vaal with the hope of purchasing more gens of the same sort. Mr. Ream confirms the statement of Mr. Tully, in whose hands he saw four or five diamonds in all, one of them 7 or 8 carats, being three-cornered in shaps and of good water, and the samaller ones were among the best he (Mr. Braun) has seen. Mr. Tully concludes his last nots as follows:—

"Diamonds are being found very day among the Korannas and Kalira on the other side of the Waal River." Anthorom it is algar-beyond all doubt that seventian voics were polked for Mr. Flood more than were polked for Mr. Campbell, we understand that the Returning-officer, on Thursday last, felt some difficulty in deelaring Mar. Flood to be only elected. The difficulty has arisen, we are told, in this way. The Deputy-returning-officer with the scaled ballot pupers the written statement of the Pield of Mara did not send to the Returning-officer with the scaled ballot pupers the written statement of the number of votes polled for each candidate, signed by himself and the scrutiners, as required by the 50th section of the Electoral Act, and so, on the day a ppointed for the declaration of the poll (Thursday) sat), the numbers, in the absence of this paper, could not be announced. This paper, it seems, had been, in point of fact, posted by the Deputy-returning-officer at Ryde to the address of the Returning-officer, and is now in his hands. Such being the case, of course the difficulty is at an end, and the declaration and return will, we imagine, be made on Mionday next, in accordance with the complete returns which has reached us to the effect that the Returning-officer, although he was aware that Mr. Flood had the majority, yet meditated declaring Mr. Campbell to have been elected, because the written statement from the Field of Mars had not reached him. We cannot for a moment suppose that any Returning-officer would be guitty of such gross misconduct. It does not appear, so far as we can learn, that Mr. Blaxland, the Deputy-returning-officer in question committed any irregularity, either by not sealing up the ballot papers, or by not signing with the scrutiners the would be guitty of such gross misconduct. It does not appear, so far as we can learn, that Mr. Blaxland, the Deputy-returning-officer in question committed any irregularity, either by not sealing up of the ballot papers, or by not signing with the acruiners the wild have the seal of the had, as rummoured, at one time, sent the but papers would be of moton

(Written expressing for the Sydney Morning Herold.)

My informant's clothen were somewhat worn, but still well brushed and neat. He was clean shaved, had a clean shirt on, and wore a smart blue cravat, sprigged and spotted with white. The top-coat hanging up in his little parlour was of somewhat a sporting out, except that a broad belt of leather had been let in at the waist. His low-crowned hat had also a sporting lock, and he had something of the sharp look of a betting man—the sharpness without the blackguardism. He was plainly a man who could not be easily done or builted—his wite had been too long on the guindatone of London streets for that; no doubt he could give as good as he got in the way of chaff, and, with most folks, of fisticuffs; but still he could be perfectly respectful when he was civily spoken to. He was nursing a slippered foot on a chair in the tiny room behind the pillbox of a shop in which his wife sold penny papers, penny pickwicks, and cheap sweets uff. His joungest children had been enjoying the unwonted treat of a room with Daddy when I went in, but they had been dismissed, and, as he spoke, he fidgeted as all people long accustomed to epen air hife do fidget, when centined to a house.

"Well, sir," he said presently, "I'm forty years old, and hever since I was two-and-thirty I've been on the menkey-board, as you call it; and all them years I hadn't ad an 'cliany sione to-day. An' you can't, call this much of an 'oldsy. I got my foot jammed last night—the flesh is out right down to the bone. I can't put it to the ground, sir, but I must make precious haste and get it cured somehow, or helse they'll say, 'Jim, you' ain't wanted,' when I got lack to the yard. "And yet I was huncommon jolly when I fost got the billet. I was brought up, ye see, sir, a brass-f under by trade, and my old 'coman was a dressmaker, and we did pretty babbish. But then trade turned alack, and one week we got warning at the shop, and next Saturday the gates was looked with no intentions of hoppin' 'em agin, an' them as wife worked for was like herself—tooknoor to think about new gownds an' bonnets, ar' we'd to sell our sticks to keep affont. We'd kids, you see, and more a-commi. We'll, afore all the tin was gone. I opened this 'ere shop in a small way—it ain't in a wery large way now—my old 'coman hain't had to pay Hincome Tax en her profits yet. But then, you see, I wanted a methin' to do, an' a friend says, 'Jim, why don't ve try the 'bures?' You take a long walk, an' then you come in an' keep on jumpin' up, and down your stairs, an' bellerin', and bangin' your patlour deor, for sixteen hours, an' then you take another long walk, and you'll still feel like a prince to what we does horfen, becos, ye see, you il have been under cover all the time. DISASTROUS GALE IN ALGOA BAY SHIPPING DISASTERS AND LOSS C LIFE.

SHIPPING DISASTERS AND LOSS OF LIFE.

A Pour Elizabeth newspaper (the Entirm Province Hicaia), in writing of this calamity, says:—"It is our painful duty to have to record one of the most disastrous gales that has ever visited this port. Old residents aftern that it has sever been approached in intensity since 1831; although in September, 1856, there was a heavy gale, during which seven vessels! were wrecked. On Saturday, September 25, just before noon, a gradual fall in the barometer, accompanied by a veering of the wind to the south-east, portended that heavy weather might be anticipated. At 2.15 p.m. the signal to 'veer cable' was made from the Port Office, and at 4 o'clock another signal to 'veer to a whole cable' and to prepare for bad weather. The breeze rapidly freshened towards sunset, and was followed by a smart shower of rain. Between 10 and 11 o'clock the barque Sarah Black was discovered to be drifting, and shortly afterwards she took the ground, stem on, near the Gas Company's works. A number of people assembled on the beach, huge free were lighted, and the Volunteer Artillery, under Captain Rutherford, with praiseworthy alacrity, arrived with the Manby rocket apparatus, whica, however, was not brought into requisition. We are shappy to say the crew of this vessel was safely landed by the life-boat about 1 o'clock on Sunday morning." But we must now abridge the Healt's account of the causstrophes which followed. About 3 a.m. the burque Forres parted, and touched the ground just off the neathern extremity of the sea-wall. Her crew also safely reached the shore in one of Watts's whale-boats, which was in charge of the port coxswain, Sadler. The barque England grounded marity opposite the life-boat house about haif pat 6. In this case the Manby apparatus was used with effect, and a line was cleverly thrown into the foretop. Conmunication having been established with the share, the men were all safely landed without a ceratch. About 7 a.m. the North-German barque Major van Staff stranded, taking up a p moorings, and came on shore within a short distance of the Sarah Black.

At 3 a clock on Sunday morning the beach presented a scene of indescribable wreck. Boats of every description were atrewn along the shore, some of them totally smeshed, and others in a seriously demaged state. Meats, oars, cordage, and pieces of imber lay piled of the rocks, and a wild confusion prevalled. While the bystanders were contemplating its melancholy specthed the wind redoubled its vigience, blowing at least seventy-five miles per hour, the thunder roared, the lightning flashed, and heavy, pitiless showers of rain came driving down with instense force. In the midst of this the Swedish harque Ser Snake was observed running for the shore, with hir jib set. Being much heavier laden than the vessels which preceded her, she could not reach so far m-where, and took the ground in the Bight about 500 yards north of the sea-wall end. Several ineffectual attempts were made to get the life-boats off to her assistance, but all in vain. About three in the atternoon the misen-mast gave way, and almost histantaneously the vessel, so to apeak, crumbled away, and the crew were precipitated into the angry ways. A wait of anguish burst from the spectators on witnessing the sudden disappearance of the barque and they rushed into the shore any of the survivors who might be washed up. Out of acrew of seventeen men, but nine reached the shore: the remainder, including the captain and chief mate sank to rise no more. The following is a list of the vessels on shore:—

Argell, Farque, 234 tons, Captain S. Milaer.

Argell, Esrque, 234 tons, Captain S. Milnor.

Duke of Beccleuch, brig, 197 tons, Captain B. Wilding.

England, burque, 388 tons, Captain E. B. Fulham.

Fingos, burque, 388 tons, Captain E. M. Mranglos.

Flash, brygantine, 111 tons, Captain F. M. Wranglos.

Flash, brygantine, 111 tons, Captain F. M. Donne.

Gustaf, Swedish brig, 380 tons, Captain R. Revert.

Mejier Van Stafft, North-German barque, 237 tons, Captain T. Cobies.

S. a Snike, Norwegian barque, 425 tons, Captain Christopherron.

Baral: Black, barque, 315 tons, Captain K. Hutchinson.

The loss of life and proposite has been expectioned.

The loss of life and property has been exceptionally great, with eleven vessels out of thirteen on shore, and no less than eight valuable lives lost. The loss of property by this gale is set down at £100,000, which will almost entirely fall upon home offices. Since the memorable gale in Table Bay, which took place on the 17th May, 1865, no such disaster has befallen any South Agrican port as that which we now record.

Wine to the continued increase of business combined with the result of the aughication of ready-money practipe in buying and selling, J. TURNER, the projector of the MARKET CLOTH HALL, is now mabled to supply all goods throughout the stock at fully the pertuit less this year than has hitherto been charged, without in any way compromising his fame for the superior make, style, and finish of all garments made at the above astablishment, the reduction in price being effected by having the goods manufactured expressly to his own orders, and thereby naving to his customers the amount namely charged by merchants for importing.

J. T. has now on hand the largest and most magnifectual stock of which is respectfully invited. The trade and public study is considered to the colony to elect from, an inspection of which is respectfully invited. The trade and public study like the cut lengths or piece at wholeads prices. All goods are well abrunk before made up.

The most talenad cutters in the colony are employed, and perfection is obtained by each having charge of the serment they are most skillful at cutting. The very large Usiness of the Market Cloth Hall has in that respect an advantage that cannot fall to give universal satisfaction.
